THE IVM INFORMER

History of the Land:

In the mid 1920s IVM advertisements used the phrase “Detroit’s Most Exclusive Apartment Building”. A lot has happened since the building was converted into condos in 1998. Many of the original common area elements remain. Each condo unit has taken on the identity of its owner. Many walls have been literally removed and floor plans modified to efficiently utilize the spacious units. Some new kitchens and bathrooms have been installed. Other cosmetic changes have been made to address current needs, adding color, texture and features to make it feel like home.

IVM Archivist, Paul Duffy provided this information about the building, its developers and Detroit notables. Mr. Duffy’s efforts are greatly appreciated.

Indian Village Manor is built on the former site of the S. Dow Elwood home. On September 14, 1928, the Detroit Times featured an article written by Eleanor Flanigan detailing the history of the land under IVM and how the value had increased even this far away from downtown. In the early years, many of Detroit’s streets and buildings were named for the property owners.

Private Claim 679, comprised of 218 acres on the Detroit River, was granted to Jean Baptiste Chapoton in 1795 and later passed on to his son. His son exchanged the property for other land owned by Francois St. Aubin who sold it in 1816 to George Johnston for $1,080. Within one month, Johnston sold to Stephen Mack for $1,800

Holiday & Seasonal Reminders:

Because IVM is a collection of individual residences, certain safety precautions are required by law to keep everyone safe. Winter and the holidays are here and in the interest of safety, the following guidelines are provided.

IMPORTANT:

To comply with Detroit Fire Codes, natural (live) Christmas trees, wreaths and garland are not allowed inside the building or in co-owner units.

- Hallway decorations should be placed within two feet of either side of a resident's front door. Nothing should be attached to the common space walls.

- Care should be taken when decorating your condo unit with lights and other sparkly things. Check plugs, cords and wall sockets for signs of damage or excess wear such as fraying or smoke-stained outlets.

- Unplug decorations before you leave home and before going to bed. Don't overload electrical outlets.

- Hallways and stairwells should be free of clutter for easy exit and emergency evacuation.

- If ambitious cooking generates smoke, open the kitchen windows. Use fans pointed toward the windows to clear the smoke. Keep front or back doors closed to avoid setting off the fire alarm.

- Transport all large items in the freight elevators only. Carefully close the gate and the doors when you are done. Do not use the Jefferson or Riverfront elevators for this purpose.

While this winter season may be different than in years past, co-owners and residents are encouraged to take necessary steps to prevent avoidable accidents and emergencies.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN REDUCE THE RISK:

- Report all icy areas near any of the entrance doors to the management office.

- Space heaters can help combat winter drafts but they can also be a hazard. Do not place them near flammable items. Allow 3-4 feet clearance between the heater and furniture, clothes, bedding, etc.

- Smoking in the hallways and other common areas is strictly prohibited.

- Pull vehicles all the way forward in your assigned parking space. This will allow adequate room for snowplows to efficiently clear as much snow as possible in all parking IVM lots.

Flipping property is not a new concept. In 1846, James A. Van Dyke bought Private Claim 679 and an adjoining 73-acres for $8,000. This was called the Van Dyke Farm. In 1846, the land was undeveloped and virtually isolated by bad roads, making transportation in and around the area difficult.

In 1869, S. Dow Elwood bought a section of the Van Dyke Farm on the south side of Jefferson for $9,875. It was known as the “easterly 153.96 feet of private claim 679. It was part of the Van Dyke Farm that was situated in what was then Hamtramck, a district considered away, way out.” Elwood passed the property on to his daughter, Emma Jarvis, in 1912, who then sold it to Emory L. Ford for an unknown sum. In October of 1919, David Stott purchased the parcel for $149,000. The Elwood home remained on the land. It was a pleasant dwelling, set back from the Avenue with spacious lawns and lofty trees.

In April of 1920 the Stott Realty Company sold the property to the Indian Village Manor Company. In 1928, the IVM land alone had an assessed value that indicated an actual value of nearly $500,000. According to Historic Designation Advisory Board records, the City of Detroit issued a building permit to the Thompson-Starret Company on September 3, 1920. The permit was to erect an apartment building with seven stories and 84 units at an estimated cost of $2,224,000.00.

PAUL DUFFY
IVM ARCHIVIST

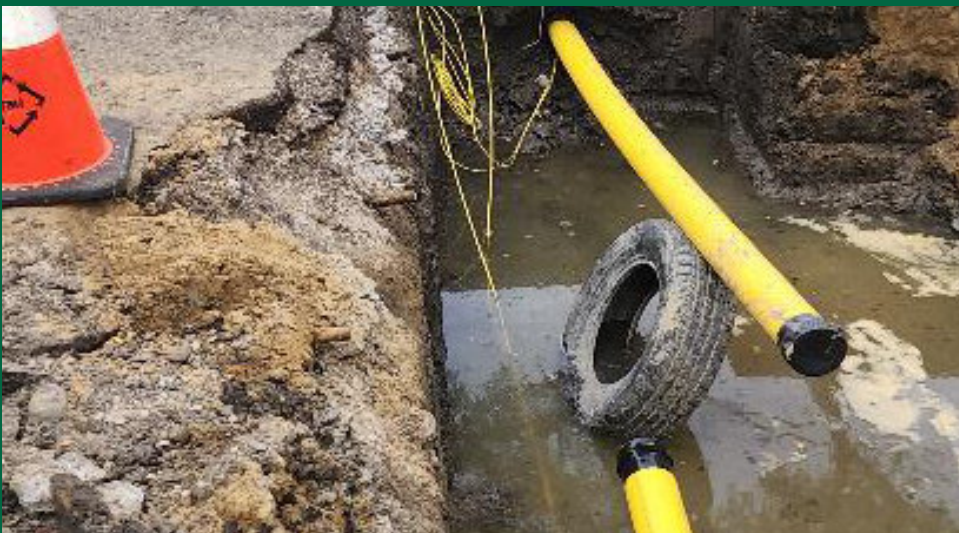

A remarkable building with features not found in new builds, Indian Village Manor (IVM) is 100 years old! Living in one of Detroit's jewels is a bit like going back in time. The original grandeur has not been lost through the years.

(Above) The 1921 Detroit Tigers finished in sixth place in the American League, 27 games behind the Yankees, with a record of 71–82. (Below) Uniroyal is seen at back left with the temporary Belle Isle bridge, which replaced the first one that burned.

For your reference, the photos above, taken on the grounds of Detroit Towers, illustrate the necessary underground work. This gas line will handle both Detroit Towers and Shoreline East's new connection into the Jefferson Main and allow the meters to be placed outside the buildings.

Jefferson Infrastructure Work

Co-owners and residents have asked what's going on with all the noisy work on Jefferson that has wreaked havoc for ingress and egress to IVM, and produced horrendous traffic backups on the avenue.

After many meetings between IVM management and DTE, a unique design will be used to move IVM's gas meter to the outside. This work will be scheduled soon and will cause minimal traffic interruption. The meter will be installed on the west driveway near the south end of the garages in a vertical manner. Bollards will be installed for safety to protect this new meter. This design was favored over the alternative that would have required IVM to maintain (at cost) regular annual inspections of the underground line. Updates on this matter will be provided as developments occur

This is the work of our utility company, DTE. They are completing a meter project mandated by the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) in August 2023. The mandate required that DTE relocate all residential interior gas meters to the outside. This project is on a fast track to be completed before winter. A copy of the MPSC letter explaining the project is available.

Beautification in Review:

The IVM-BC was formed in the summer of 2023. Members include: Thea Baker, Theo Baker, Mike and Bonnie Juras, Paris Ross, Michael Tyson and Judy Barthwell (Committee Chair).

SINCE OUR INCEPTION WE HOPE YOU HAVE NOTICED SOME OF OUR WORK:

- Plants in the entrance pots during the fall of 2023.
- Winter/Holiday decorations during the season.
- Signage at entry doors.
- The Flag to be flown appropriately during spring, summer, and fall.
- Riverside fence lighting replaced.
- Power wash of the Riverside cement area to brighten our summer outside.
- Information Signs updated throughout building

Attractive garbage cans for easy disposal of trash and weighted, so they stay upright, even on our windiest days.

IN THE NEAR FUTURE, PLEASE LOOK FORWARD TO:

- Bike Area development /expansion
- Lobby updates
- Service Stairwell and Elevators updates
- Basement painting
- Additional sign updates
- Blue and Iroquois Room updates

The IVM-BC meets the first Tuesday of the month March - December in the Iroquois Room at 7:30 pm.

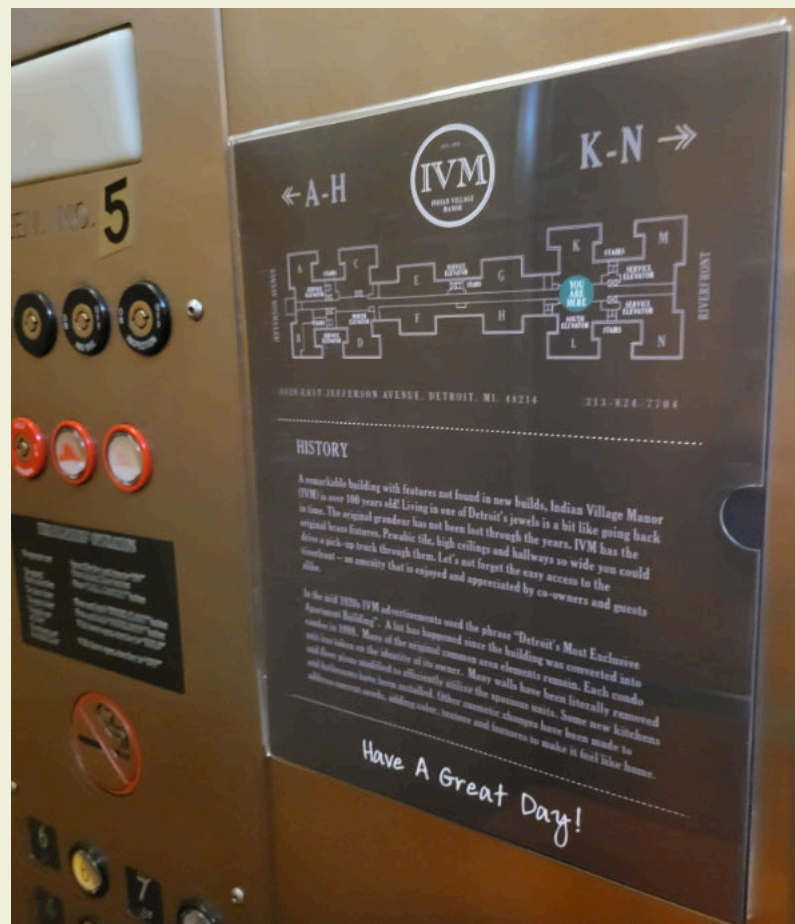

All are invited to attend any meeting. Please submit any beautification thoughts or ideas to the committee members, or come to a meeting.

Health and Wellness Program

Over the years IVM has maintained a successful, robust Health and Wellness Program resulting in health-related dividends for Co-owners and residents.

Recently, a concerned co-owner contacted the management office requesting a welfare check on an individual that had not been heard from or seen for some time. Several attempts were made to reach the individual by phone and knocking on the front and rear doors to no avail.

The individual had a key to their unit stored in the management office safe. Out of an abundance of concern for the individual, the decision was made to enter the unit. The acting Maintenance Supervisor Alton Moses* and Entry Control personnel Komese Eiland* entered the unit through the rear door. As they entered the rear hallway, they announced themselves loudly but there was no response. They moved further into the unit and found the individual laying on the floor barely able to speak and appearing dehydrated.

They provided hydration and proceeded to call 911. The individual was vehemently opposed to contacting emergency services and stated that they would refuse transportation to a hospital. Subsequently, staff remained with the individual and contacted the concerned co-owner to provide an update. Fortunately, the concerned co-owner was able to convince the individual to go to the hospital and drove the individual to the hospital.

This year the IVM Emergency Management & Health and Wellness Committee implemented a volunteer training program for our staff and committee members. This 20 hours FEMA program conducted by the City of Detroit Office of Homeland Security provides vital basic training in a myriad of subjects. This includes basic first aid, Incident Command System (ICS) and Emergency Operations.

The following Emergency Management Health and Wellness Committee members have successfully completed the training:

- Donna Rowell, 2A
- John Poe, 2N
- Darchelle Strickland Love, 7A
- Duane Johnson, 1C
- Davina Jenkins, Entry Control
- Komese Eiland, Entry Control*
- Alton Moses, Acting Man., Supervisor*

*Komese and Alton had just completed training the week before this incident and utilized their skills on behalf of the association. Vance Hagen, Arnette Vaughn and Daryl Wood will be attending training soon.

Pilot Window Program

This year the Association and the Energy Committee in conjunction with Dr. Strand explored energy efficiency in all common areas. A collaboration with Ms. Frieda Gilyard and Ms. Carolyn Rand of unit 5A and their contractor established a boilerplate program for all future north elevation window installations. The established dimensions will achieve uniformity for the north and south elevations.

The ultimate goal is to establish window replacement standards that will require Association approval going forward.

Moreover, a pilot window replacement program will begin in the common areas. Initially, the windows of the seventh-floor windows in the L/N and B/D stairwells will be replaced. These two locations are the worst within the building. After installed, they will be closely monitored to make sure that the efficiency of these new double pane windows will carry a R-50 storm rating.

Additionally, we will be replacing the north elevation common corridor windows next spring, from the second through the seventh floors. These double pane windows will also carry a R-50 storm rating.

IVM MANAGEMENT

Pet Vaccination Request

Indian Village Management recently completed a long overdue assessment of the accuracy of the roster of pet dogs and their vaccination status.

IVM Management requests all current dog owners provide vaccination records on an annual basis. Please provide the requisite vaccination records by January 6, 2025. Numerous IVM dog owners and the Association believe the health and the interests of the community will be better served by this annual submission. Adherence to this standard of care request will provide surety and protect the health and safety of all visitors, workers, co-owners, residents, and their beloved companions. Management thanks pet owners in advance for their cooperation in this matter.

IVM MANAGEMENT

Food Delivery Protocol

Over the last few weeks, the carpet and furniture has been cleaned throughout the building. Management received several complements regarding the efficiency of the contractor's work.

Unfortunately, within a day or two of the carpet cleaning, a food delivery service employee spilled heavy oil on the carpet. This spill extended from the Jefferson entrance to the north passenger elevator. Food has been left in the lobby on the marble benches and on the sofa table across from the north passenger elevator. Several co-owner's expressed their dismay and requested that the association consider guidelines that would address the myriad issues surrounding food delivery services.

Accordingly, the following guidelines are designed to effectively address this issue:

- Residents/co-owners must call Entry Control personnel before their order arrives.
- No delivery service will be allowed in the building if Entry Control has not been notified or the resident/co-owner is not at the door to receive the order themselves.
- No orders shall be left Inside the building lobby for residents/co-owners' to pick-up.
- If a resident/co-owner is not physically able to retrieve the order themselves, they MUST contact entry control to ask for assistance.

- Grocery orders shall be delivered to the eastside loading dock where the co-owner/residents will meet the delivery service. Non-ambulatory and those physically unable to meet the delivery service must contact entry control to ask for further assistance.

The association reserves the right to modify these guidelines in the best interest of the greater good as we seek to maintain the health, safety and cleanliness of our building.

IVM MANAGEMENT

Grounds Maintenance

During the 2024 growing season, IVM utilized a pilot program where we contracted with DeWayne Rivers to handle grounds maintenance and all flower beds. Flowers were handled by individual areas with participation by Mike Tyson, Kay Smith, J G. Love and Marilyn Wheaton. From all indications and comments, this system has produced outstanding optics.

Pursuit Of Energy Efficiency

Many of you are aware of the energy pursuits by Dr. Strand (7N). His efforts have provided valuable information that everyone in the building can utilize as progress is made toward a more energy efficient building and complex.

Initially Dr. Strand removed each of the radiator's wooden cabinets to expose the exterior walls, wooden window frames, and the cement floor that is beneath the radiators. For your reference, photos along with a note from Vernon Strand, are provided here.

The Strands have contracted for strategically placed installation of double pane windows in the unit. A plumber has replaced all the radiator shut off valves and steam traps.

This ongoing process will provide an unprecedented road map to assist other Co-owners who decide to implement energy efficiency improvements in their units. The Energy Committee will assemble a comprehensive report that highlights the pros & cons of this type of undertaking.

Energy Committee

On September 24, IVM was visited by Brandon Richardson, an energy consultant from Ecotelligent Homes. He evaluated the project in 7N where Vern and Jane Strand are trying to improve their energy usage. They hope to eliminate drafts and sticky windows. Radiator covers have been removed. Radiator valves and steam traps have been replaced as needed. The bare masonry walls behind their radiators are still exposed.

Brandon recognizes that the IVM's masonry walls are not airtight, and many of our windows are single pane only, but he found that the most obvious path for air/heat leakage is the rotting wood frames around the windows. 7N will be the next unit to replace its windows. Masonry walls below the windows will be sealed to minimize air infiltration. Insulation will be placed in the large spaces below the windows.

If you notice drafts near your windows, or if your unit is not as warm as it should be, you might have similar issues to deal with. If your unit is too hot when the radiators are on, have a plumber check valves and steam traps on your radiators.

More efficient use of IVM's steam and electricity will result in decreased energy bills for all of us.

ENERGY COMMITTEE

Communication Committee

Our goal at the Indian Village Manor Communication Committee is to foster a stronger sense of community—a true “vertical neighborhood”; as Mr. Love puts it—by enhancing how we connect with one another. Through clearer, more seamless communication, we aim to promote health, safety, happiness, knowledge, and transparency within our building. A robust communication system ensures that residents are always informed about important updates, from emergency alerts to social events, and helps to build a supportive, engaged living environment.

We recently conducted a survey to gather feedback on improving communication, but the response was lukewarm. We'd love to hear from more residents, especially regarding your interest in a proposed resident directory. Whether you're looking to opt-in or opt-out, please take a moment to share your preferences. The communication committee is also working on finalizing a mission statement, which aligns with our committee's vision of a well-connected and informed community.

Let's work together to make Indian Village Manor a place where everyone feels informed, involved, and part of something special.
